Introduction

As group commissioner, I would like to the 2019-2020 scouting season and welcome to (or back to) 7th Markham Scout Group and to personally thank you on behalf of the youth for your time and dedication to making their experience a fruitful and memorable one.

Scouts Canada's mission is to help youth develop to be well rounded individuals and be better prepared for success in the world.

As a Scouting volunteer, you knowingly and generously offer to share your time and skills with the Scouting Movement and have accepted the responsibility to guide and mentor the youths of 7th Markham Scout Group.

But don't worry, you're not alone. We do this as a Section, as a Group supported by the Group Committee as well as our area, council and national Scout's Canada leadership.

In addition to the training you have taken (via online or in-house) and the New Scouter Welcome Kit, this document will serve as your reference to how 7th Markham function as a group. Please keep it handy and should you have any questions not addressed in this document, do not hesitate to ask one of your fellow Scouters or any member of the Group Committee.

Again, on behalf of the youths and Scouters of 7th Markham, I welcome you to our group and hope you have a fun and adventure filled Scouting year.

Lastly, I am always available for any ideas, thoughts, questions or concerns you may have, no matter how small or large.

Yours in Scouting,

Bryant Fung

Commissioner@7thmarkham.org

Scouter's role

Your role as a Scouter is to support youth leadership and to inspire youths to get excited about all the great adventures that they can experience. You are there to assist, facilitate, mentor and encourage youths to plan and execute the activities they have chosen to do and to allow them to do it by themselves in a safe and controlled environment.

Share your knowledge, experience and skills in a positive and flexible approach and Treat youth (and fellow Scouters) with respect and integrity.

Allow the youth to learn by doing by participating in individual and group activities that match their interests and needs. Remember, each individual learns and grows differently so it is more important to just keep them engaged and having fun rather than needing to have them achieve a certain skill or complete a certain task.

The training provided to you outlined and explained all the responsibilities you have as a Scouter.

Below are some of the responsibilities worth reiterating:

Be Safe!

Always follow the Scouter-to-Youth ratio - Scouts Canada's policy is to have one Scouter for every 8 youths (1:8). However, 7th Markham strives to achieve a ratio of 1 Scouter to 6 youths because it is more manageable for our adult volunteers.

Follow the Two-Scouter Deep rule - Do not be alone with a youth at any time during a scouting activity or event. If you are transporting a youth other than your own child to/from a scouting activity, make sure there is another Scouter (who has an "active" status) in the vehicle with you. If you have any questions regarding this rule don't hesitate to talk to me.

Communicating with Parents and Guardians

Provide regular and ongoing communication with parents and guardians. On occasion, we do send emails to parents. However, this is not the preferred mechanism and it is not at all reliable since we do not have any means on knowing if the emails we have are correct, if the emails were received or read, etc.

For this reason, our formal means of communicating to parents are :

- group website (www.7thMarkham.org)
- Internal and External Facebook pages (www.facebook.com/7thMarkhamScouts and www.facebook.com/groups/7thmarkham)

Parents are reminded at the beginning of the Scouting Year to check these sites for weekly scheduled activities and important announcements.

We will discuss the potential of using other social media options this coming year such as Whatsapp at our group meeting in the fall.

Scouting year at a glance

As a Scouter you should know all the activities that have been scheduled for the entire group. As well, there are some Area or National events (e.g., Kub Kar rally, jamboree, etc.) that you need to be aware of so that if your section wishes to participate, you, your fellow Scouters and the youth can plan accordingly.

Appendix B - Camping

Things to consider when going camping with the youth from your section:

Before camp

1. Camp location has been booked, confirmed and camp permit issued and received
2. Camping and Outdoor Activity form filled out, submitted to group committee and approved by the Group Commissioner. (Form can be found at: <http://www.scouts.ca/bpp/forms/Camping-Outdoor-Activity-Application.pdf>)
3. Finalize the list of camp participants and their respective emergency contact information as well as any medical and/or dietary concerns
4. General principles for planning camping meals
 - a) For weekend camps, plan for 2 breakfasts, 1 lunch, 1 dinner, 2 mug ups (hot chocolate with snacks) and 3 snacks
 - b) No dinner for Friday night since it is expected that camp participants have had dinner before heading to camp
 - c) No lunch for Sunday since it is expected that pick up time will be at around 11 AM so Scouters have enough time to clean and pack up and leave before noon
 - d) Sunday breakfast should be no cooking as much as possible so that there is less cleaning to do
 - e) Consider meals that are easy to prepare and easier for clean-up. For example, while spaghetti is easy to prepare, it is difficult to clean the pots and plates while at camp. Likewise, while a chili is a hearty meal, it is also messy to clean-up. Examples of easy and minimal cleaning meals are: (1) breakfast – pancakes, sausage and egg burrito, campfire cinnamon roll-ups, ham and cheese croissants (2) lunch - hamburger, hot dogs, grilled cheese, wraps, sub sandwich (3) dinner – Mexican pizza using tortillas, tin foil dinner, campfire pizza
 - f) Factor weather as well – during winter it is good to have hot soup
 - g) Factor food storage – milk and fresh meat could spoil easily without ice. Consume perishable items first.
5. Coordinate with the Group Quartermaster to obtain the required camping equipment from storage:
 - a) Tents – one tent can sleep 3 to 4 Beavers or Cubs or 2 to 3 Scouts or Venturers
 - b) Tarps
 - c) Cooking gear – stove, propane, pots/pans, utensils
 - d) Water jugs
 - e) Lamps
 - f) Cooler
 - g) Kitchen tent
6. Purchase any required supplies and food items

At camp

1. Tents and tarps
 - a) Youth should not share tents with Scouters
 - b) As much as possible, all youth tents should be close to one another, set up to one side of the camp site and within a distance away from the Scouters' tents
 - c) Tents are not co-ed – this apply to both Scouter and youth (exceptions to family campers such as father with daughter and son)
 - d) Beaver age youths as well as first year Cubs can set up the tents with the help of the Scouters. Older youths are expected to set up their tents with minimal help from Scouters.

- e) When setting up the tent
 - lay the tarp first and then the tent on top of it – do not step on the tarp or the disassembled tent
 - assemble the tent and make sure that all sides of the tent are taut and pegged properly
 - make sure to store the peg bag, pole bag and tent bag in the pocket inside the tent to avoid losing them
 - make sure the tarp is tucked under the tent and no tarp is outside the tent perimeter. Doing this will avoid water being collected on the tarp if it rains.
- f) Keep tents clean inside and out
- g) Do not bring your shoes or any food inside the tent
- h) Make sure there are no garbage or dirt inside the tent when you tear down camp and pack the tents back in its bag
- i) Try to remove as much dirt as you can from the tarp
- 2. Meals and meal time
 - a) Older youths (e.g., third year Cubs and older) are expected to help in cooking if not cook the meals for the camp
 - b) Youths are expected to wash their own dishes/mess kits
- 3. Remind youth to always stay with the group and have a buddy at all times

After camp

1. Make sure all group equipment (e.g., tents, tarps, cooler, cooking gear, etc.) are clean and dry prior to returning to storage. If the equipment is not clean and dry, mould will set and they will no longer be safe for use. In the past we had equipment that have not been washed, were put on storage and mould grew and we ended up throwing them away. This was such a waste of money - money that our youths fundraised hard for.
2. Coordinate with the Group Quartermaster when you are ready to return all the group equipment into storage
3. Return all equipment in the same (or better) condition as when you borrowed them
4. Return all equipment as soon as possible as other sections might need them
